Falling In Love and Out of Control.

What happens when your friends and family take total control of your love life and decide to find your one and only, at all costs? They may be the ones who know you best, but that does not necessarily mean they know better!

A brand new and exciting dating show, taking the quest for love to a whole new level!

Each episode gathers a bachelor or bachelorette looking for love, and three of their closest relatives or friends, to perform as decision makers.

The family members audition potential partners, closely monitor the romantic dates, and finally decide who will be the one and only to join their precious single for a passionate trip abroad.

The result is hilarious and exhilarating, but also moving and heartfelt, offering a clever insight on generation gaps.

The show's elements include:

The auditions - The three decision makers audition dozen of possible candidates suitable for a date with their loved one, asking them questions both intimate and funny, all to narrow it down to 2 potential dates.

Dating round - A romantic tone is set, and the singles go out on a date with their set-up partners.

Romantic? That's if you can ignore the three judges monitoring the couples' every move from backstage.

After all, at the end of the two dates, they are the ones to decide who is the most suitable for their loved one.

Romantic conclusion - Like in every good romantic comedy, the dramatic climax takes place at the airport.

There, the single will wait to see who was chosen to join him on a romantic vacation abroad. Will there be a perfect match?
