Comes with digital companion series

One renowned chef embarks on an international journey to meet fellow culinary masters from his home country. In every episode he will visit a new chef in a different city and follow in their footsteps to get a taste of what it means to share their flavours with the world. Through visits to their home and restaurant, the host will understand the price these talented chefs have paid to attain global success in a competitive and foreign food industry. From fine dining to fast food, each meeting will culminate in a showcase of the chef's restaurant, a testament to all that they have achieved.
